

Arden McCarthy is an online columnist who has avoided Trulove's promises to find her perfect match for years until a hospital nurse meddles and decides to reach out to Arden's matches for her.

A few of Arden's matches show up at the hospital to meet her, and it's a little overwhelming. Her list has 10 people on it, and she's trying to heal from a gunshot injury while worrying who might show up next.

The story is so big, it involves big pharma, the government, and a possible conspiracy to make and keep people sick.

Freya sends Arden flowers and they go on their first official date. Freya takes Arden to a sea turtle sanctuary. After, they share their first kiss and something more.

As they continue to do research while on the run, they discover the conspiracy is even bigger than they thought and it becomes clear that waiting it out is not an option. They have to take the fight to them.

Freya Bridger feels like Trulove ended her previous relationship and she wants nothing to do with it until she gets an interesting message from a match she's never reached out to herself.

Freya decides to stop by the hospital to make sure that Arden is okay, and is immediately taken with her, but another woman (on Arden's list) is there too, so Freya leaves before Arden can see her.

On their first coffee date, Arden explains that she's working on a new story with Darcy (the friend on her list) about something big.

They agree to meet after exchanging a few messages and when they do, it feels like coming home for both of them.

Arden & Freya share "I love you" and Arden & Darcy publish their article together.

The story that had started about cancer is now more about conspiracy and Trulove might be involved. They make their way to a safe house with a security team and plan to wait it out, but it's soon made clear that they're being followed.

Arden finds a hacker who shares her common interest of bringing these crimes to light, and they work together to get everything out into the open.

Except that it did in Freya & Arden's case because it brought them together.

LOVE

Years later, they're married and Arden & Darcy's story changed the world for the better. It also helped Darcy meet the love of her life in Freya's best friend.

Arden goes on a date with one of her matches more to see how it goes, and thinks they're best as friends, but she decides to message back and forth with a few more. One of them is Freya.

When someone shows up at Arden's door with a gun, Freya senses the article might have caused some people in high places to worry about what Arden & Darcy might know. She suggests that they run. Arden agrees.

This means that Arden is safe and that they can go home.

The government has a lot of questions to answer as do the companies conspiring to make people sick and to make them believe that Trulove really works, which it doesn't.

Crew X

Thea is in her last year of SoulMatch school, about to be sent off to marry a man she's never met, but a man that she was created for.

Avalon is in her last year of SoulMatch school, but is a woman on a mission to bring SoulMatch down after what they did to her and others.

Thea is immediately taken with Avalon and knows that she didn't just have a crush on Claudia, her best friend who's disappeared. She begins to wonder how she could be made for a man when she's feeling these things for women.

LIVE YOUR PURPOSE

Avalon was told by Claudia that she could trust Thea, so she takes the risk and she tells Thea everything she knows about SoulMatch and what they've done, including torturing her and killing Claudia.

At first, they tell no one about their plan, but soon, they realize that they need help from some friends that they hope they can trust and they enlist them to help them escape as the first part of the plan.

As they research and scheme, they discover that SoulMatch is worse than they thought and escaping isn't enough. They need to bring down the corporation that's responsible for so much evil.

Thea doesn't want to help Avalon at first but as her graduation day approaches and she realizes she'll soon be sent to the man she can't ever love, she decides to help Avalon try to escape.

It turns out that Avalon feels the same way about Thea and the two share a first kiss, understanding that SoulMatch can't be right about who they're supposed to be with because they want to be with each other.

A party is their first chance to escape and is also their best and only chance, so with the help of those friends, they steal the data they need to bring SoulMatch down, send it out to the media, and flee with one of those friends in tow.

In order to pull off their plan, they have to go back in. On graduation day, Avalon and Thea infiltrate SoulMatch and the rest of their plan begins to unfold.

When their friend leaves them to find the love she left behind, they're on their own, but that's what they want. They share a first time and also "I love you."

They bounce from safe house to safe house, gathering the materials they need, and continuing to plan.

The Program Master, the woman in charge from their perspective catches them and they're about to be executed when the rest of the plan begins in earnest.

All the information they gathered has been released. The SoulMatch students have air cars waiting to take them to safe places and begin their lives anew. They won.

With SoulMatch defeated, Thea & Avalon can finally live the life they want for themselves. They get engaged and make a home together.

Years later, they're still helping other SoulMatch students find their way. They're married and have two kids of their own. They never have to worry about SoulMatch again.
